CRH Sustainability Reporting

CRH is a global leader in the manufacture and supply of a diverse range of superior building materials and products. CRH employs over 90,000 people at around 4,000 locations worldwide.

Background

CRH has been reporting on corporate social responsibility/ sustainability since 2004 and have been evolving its reporting from GRI G3 reporting transitioning to GRI G4. They wanted support to check they were on track while moving from one framework to another.

What we did

- Provided cost effective in-house training for the team on the GRI G3.1 Framework.
- Provided follow-up training in-house to bridge from GRI G3.1 to G4.
- Conducted a Sustainability Report Gap analysis on the 2013 report to transition from GRI G3 to G4. This gave them detailed guidance on where they were compliant and where work was needed. An in-house workshop to review the necessary transition points was conducted.

Results

- The team successfully completed the GRI Certified Training Course.
- CRH published the 2013 Sustainability Report in accordance to the GRI G3.1 Framework.
- CRH then went on to publish the 2014 Sustainability Report in accordance to the GRI G4 Framework.
